

Solid arrows = forward data flow / rule-layer output. Dashed arrows = post-hoc / auxiliary connections (not part of the forward pass or any training loss).

The decoder also receives the encoder's last-step features (skip connection); the severity head reads the same last-step features.